

snow falls past the window, slow and quiet. She watches each flake. The room is warm. The night is hushed.